

Oliver Wyman case study

the challenge:

To deliver a high-end office furniture solution to complement office space in one of London's most iconic buildings.

the background:

Oliver Wyman UK, the UK division of Oliver Wyman, a leading global management consultancy, had moved to occupy two levels – or approximately 67,000 sq ft – in the iconic 55 Baker Street. The business wanted to achieve high levels of performance for a high-end category B fit-out, delivering value for money through a globally tendered process.

Oliver Wyman chose Steelcase Solutions to work alongside StructureTone to specify and procure a complete office furniture package, alongside full project management for the installation.

the solution:

Steelcase Solutions advised Oliver Wyman on the most appropriate workstations and on-floor storage to support effective open-plan working and modular private office applications.

As part of our full project management brief, we went on to supply, deliver and install the office furniture, as well as waste management following installation. But the service Steelcase Solutions provided goes beyond the initial fit-out – we continue to provide support and advice as the business grows and evolves.
